General Session	NEW MEMBERS WELCOME MEETING	Debbie Hall	A program to introduce new members to the Association and all it has to offer. This program will be an overview of Association divisions, roundtables and committees. A place for new members to ask questions	203
Academic Public School Technology	Demise of the Book: Reading in the 21st Century	Lea Ann Alexander	In January 2008, Steve Jobs stated that Amazon's eReader, the Kindle, would fail because "people don't read anymore". Was he right? Each year the NEA Report on reading indicates that Americans are reading less. In response to patron demand, libraries add computers and databases while slashing book budgets. Should we worry?	205
Children's School	Children's Book Awards (Part 1 of 2)	Connie Zimmer	An overview of the Arkansas Children's Book Awards process including how the books are chosen, who is involved, and how we were able to give recognition to our authors for the first time in many years. The Charlie May Simon and Arkansas Diamond Books for 2009-2010 will be discussed. Beth Stone will present activities related to the list for teachers and librarians to use. These activities will be aligned with the Library Media and Content area frameworks (which is always a plus!).	102
School	Resource Description & Access (RDA) Model & Impact on Cataloging in the School Library Media Center	Jud Copeland	Resource Description & Access (RDA) is the new cataloging standard that will replace Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules, 2nd edition in 2009. RDA goes beyond earlier cataloging codes in providing guidelines on cataloging digital resources and a stronger emphasis on helping users. RDA also supports clustering of bibliographic records to show relationships between works and their creators. This presentation will focus on how changes in the cataloging code will impact information services.	204
ALL	They Said It Couldn't Be Done	Lynn Davis, Author	They said It Couldn't Be Done , documents the closing down of "The Biggest Illegal Casino Operation in America - Hot Springs, Arkansas - 1967" in 120 days. After failed attempts at ending casino operations in Hot Springs for decades, Governor Winthrop Rockefeller was frustrated. The previous police chiefs were bribed, blackmailed, or threatened into inaction by the "redneck mafia" in the Spa City. But not Lynn Davis, a clean-cut FBI agent-turned police chief who became a local hero.	201 & 202
Children's School Public Trustee	Climb aboard Dolly Parton's Imagination Library; the gift that speaks volumes for your community's future	Pam Husaker, Regional Director Dolly Parton's Imagination Library	Dolly Parton's Imagination Library is a unique opportunity to give something simple, yet powerful, to children and parents. She founded her Imagination Library to provide a library of books to preschool children that would help them develop a love for reading and learning. Ample research supports early literacy. The key to success in school and beyond is developing proficient reading skills.	103

Public All Others	Customer Service Fundamentals (Part 1 of 2)	Judith Gibbons	Do you want to make your library shine by providing consistent and outstanding service to your community? This program will review and introduce some concepts that will enhance the library experience for your patrons.	201 & 202
ALL	Finding the Lost Year: What Happened When Little Rock Closed Its Public Schools	Sondra Gordy, Author	Much has been written about the Little Rock School Crisis of 1957, but very little has been devoted to the following year - the Lost Year, 1958-59 - when Little Rock schools were closed to all students, both black and white. Finding the Lost Year is the first book to look at the unresolved elements of the school desegregation crisis when policy-makers thwarted desegregation and challenged the creation of a racially integrated community.	203
School	Changing the Face of the Library	Lori Bush	Want to change the face of the library to be more current? Start the new school year with fresh ideas to liven up your collection. Learn how to utilize visual displays to promote programs, themes, genres, books and frameworks. Bring your own ideas and pictures to share so we will all go home and change the face of our libraries.	204
Technology Public Reference	Gale Business Resources in the Down Economy - Tools to Support your Community	Linda Busse	As the country continues to struggle with the down economy, the library continues to grow in its role as a resource for those dealing with job loss, re-training, legal issues and other economic concerns. One of the most critical roles public libraries play in today's world is helping users access resources in these areas. This program provides an overview of Gale resources that help patrons gain the knowledge they need to survive the current economic crisis.	205
Children's Public	Thinking Outside the Box: An Exchange of Children's Programming Ideas	Randi Eskridge, Anna Bates & Lauren Drittler	Join other librarians and paraprofessionals from all over the state for a creative exchange of programming ideas and best practices with an emphasis on summer reading. Brief five minute presentations of programming ideas will be made by Lauren Drittler from Pope County Library, Anna Bates from Stuttgart Public Library, and Randi Eskridge from Bob Herzfeld Memorial Library. The remainder of the program will give others a chance to share ideas with the group and will also provide an open forum for discussing ideas for 2010 summer reading.	103

Children's Public	Building a Teen Program	Kara Propes	Working with teenagers can be a scary, intimidating and quite frankly an annoying task. Guess what, they feel the same way about you. Teenagers are like animals. They sense your fears and your insecurities. The first step in teen programming is to understand them. Work with them and treat them like adults. (Note: they are not adults). You as the Librarian or Youth Services Coordinator have to think like a teenager. Help them develop their ideas into a responsible adult decision. In this session you will learn how to do that and as a result build a successful teen program.	205

Public School Trustee	Marketing on a Shoestring - A Real Case Study from Palm Beach, FL	Nicole Stroud	Have you ever wondered if your library should or could do marketing? Are you deterred by lack of funds? Find out what basic marketing can do for you, and learn how to put together a marketing plan on a shoestring budget. This interactive session will walk participants through evaluating 1.) their organization's mission and goals, 2) their organization's strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats and 3) other key elements used to develop marketing strategies.	204
Academic Public School Technology	Libraries Collaboration Unconference	George Fowler and Michael Strickland	What was the Collaboration UnConference? How was it conceived? What did it accomplish? This program will detail the steps in planning, organizing, and conducting the CuC, along with the results and an un-planning toolkit to allow others to more easily have their own UnConference.	205
School	Citing Our Free Online Resources the Easy Way	Rachel Shankles	Rachel will show attendees how to do MLA citations for the Traveler database products using the cut and paste and add local info method. This method makes sense to students and can help them with this chore where online citation machines fail to correctly cite items.	103
YA Public	Teen Advisory Boards; Two Approches	Ashley Parker & Jessica McGrath	The Teen Advisory Board (TAB) provides teens the opportunity to become active in their local library. TAB programs can be designed in a variety of ways to best meet the needs of the teens involved and the community being served. Two different approaches are currently in use at the Malvern-Hot Spring County Library and the Saline County Library, respectively. In this session, aspects of planning and implementing TAB programs, along with activity ideas, will be discussed.	102
ALL	The Barling Darling: Hal Smith in American Baseball	Billy Higgins, Author History Professor U of A - Ft. Smith	As a kid, Hal Smith built up his arm by throwing a baseball at a Dr. Pepper sign on the side of a building in tiny Barling, Arkansas near Fort Smith. A two-time All-Star, Smith is the subject of a new book by Billy D. Higgins entitled The Barling Darling , published by Butler Center Books in Little Rock. Nicknamed "the Barling Darling" by former Cardinal announcer Harry Caray, Smith persevered through many years in the minor leagues before becoming one of baseball's best catchers in the post-World War II era. Higgins shows how baseball was affected by the post-war boom, using the life of Smith as a microcosm of American society.	201 & 202

Public Children's	Youth Services in the Arkansas Delta	Wendy Rickman	During the summer of 2008, Dr. Wendy Rickman and four other researchers visited the public libraries of the Mississippi Delta (Arkansas, Louisiana, & Mississippi) region as representatives of the Kellogg Foundation & the Mid South Delta Initiative (MSDI) to observe the state of children's and young adult collections and services. This review will also include original photos, anecdotal observations, and ideas to build upon.	204
ALL	Cry Wolf: A Political Fable	Paul Lake, Author	Arkansas poet and novelist Paul Lake will read from his new novel Cry Wolf: A Political Fable . A satire in the tradition of Aesop and Orwell, Cry Wolf uses the ancient tradition of the animal fable to explore such hot button topics as multiculturalism, political correctness, illegal immigration, identity politics, and a host of other contemporary issues. Written in the wake of 9/11, the novel explores how free speech, women's rights, and constitutional democracy are threatened equally by terrorism and well-intentioned efforts to reshape a culture's spiritual underpinnings, ideals, and traditions to accommodate alien ideologies. Ultimately, the novel delves into the mysteries of good and evil and explores how civilizations fail. In his introductory remarks, the author will describe how he came to write and publish his novel. A question and answer session will follow the reading and discussion, and the author will then sign books. This program is sponsored by the Arkansas Center for the Book at the Arkansas State Library.	201 & 202
